1. Check your shirts, polo's and t-shirts for wear and tear in the collar area and cuffs. If your work place allows for a smart casual look then be smart about the pants and t-shirts you wear. Offensive jokes on t-shirts will not help your career and a top that has been washed way too many times should be retired to your "relax at home" drawer.
2. Spend time hanging your clothes properly. I have seen many suit pants just thrown over a hanger which creates terrible and unnecessary creasing. As soon as pants come back from the dry cleaners ditch the metal hanger and attach it to a proper trouser hanger.
3. Check your pant pockets too. Your pockets are not semi back backs where you carry your bulky keys, every growing mobile, wallet and $10 in coins. If you carry a laptop bag, put it in there to have a more polished look.
4. Your pants will wear out twice as quick as your jacket so if you need to wear a suit find a brand that fits you well and get two pairs of pants.
5. Shoes and belt also tell a big story how much care you take into looking sharp. Getting your heels resoled in time and buy a new belt in time.
